June 2016

Learn about The Community Health Improvement (CHI) Hub

- CHI Hub is a collection of decision support tools which can assist community or multisectoral groups working on improving community health, to place health equity and community engagement at the forefront of any community health intervention. This body of work is the result of a collaboration between the National Network of Public Health Institutes (NNPHI), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the Public Health Institute California (PHI CA) and Community Commons (CC). These four organizations conducted a systematic review of how organizations define a “healthy community”; how local policy databases support healthy communities; and how nonprofit hospitals, health departments, and other organizations are conducting Community Health Needs Assessment and Community Health Improvement (CHI) processes. The resulting products, which may be accessed at CHI Hub, include online tools and technical assistance resources that promote CHI planning, implementation and continuous quality improvement. The Community Health Improvement Journey, which is also included in the CHI Hub, provides guidance on how to navigate the CHI process. Funding Opportunities

- The Children’s Well Being Initiative: The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) and Ashoka Changemakers are seeking social innovations to help all kids thrive and revolutionize how we approach issues in education, government, health, family services, and community development. This initiative goes beyond recognizing the importance of physical fitness and safety in a child’s upbringing and incorporates emotional wellbeing: a sense of self, belonging and purpose—for all children. To learn more about this initiative, as well participation eligibility criteria and funding available, click here. Deadline for application submission is June 22, 2016!
- Engaging Businesses for Health: This call for proposals, issued by the RWJF, seeks to build the evidence base for how private-sector investment can help build a Culture of Health. Click here to learn more about this initiative, as well participation eligibility criteria. Application deadline is June 14, 2016!
- Healthy Eating Research: Building Evidence to Prevent Childhood Obesity: This call for proposals (CFP) supports research on environmental and policy strategies with strong potential to promote healthy eating among children to prevent childhood obesity. Two types of awards are available under this CFP - Round 10 grants and RWJF New Connections grants. To learn more about this CFP, click here. Deadline for application submission is August 3, 2016!

June is National Safety Month!

- Injuries are a leading cause of disability for people of all ages — and they are the leading cause of death for Americans aged 1 to 44. Find out more info on ways that you can help to reduce the risk of a number of safety issues and concerns by checking out tools provided by the US Department of Health and Human Services, here.
